

Ex 37 - Reactant/product

Question One

For each of the following, indicate whether the reaction is reactant favoured or product favoured and by how many orders of magnitude.

Question Two

The amide anion (NH_2^-) is a useful base. It is a solid and is commercially available. It is never used, however, in aqueous systems. Why not?